

Abstract

[0023] Techniques for fabricating footwear with an integrated and hybrid sole design where a non-rubber material is used to cross link with rubber. A vulcanizable polyurethane capable of being vulcanized to cross link with rubber may be used to construct the middle sole which is unified with a rubber upper portion and a rubber lower sole.

10341155.doc